Imogen trained at RADA and continues to work as a director and actor in theatre across the world. She devotes herself to her work with energy and enthusiasm. A great facility with language and love of selfexpression means she is inspiring and engaging as a facilitator. She relishes the rich rewards of engendering positive change. Specialisms include training women in confidence and management skills and consulting on creativity for innovation and change. She regularly works as a trainer for RADA in Business, The Old Vic and Aspire Leadership.
