

ANDY AULD

Head of Cyber Crime Intelligence
PwC

Andy Auld is the Cyber Crime Lead in PwC's Global Threat Intelligence team. He has extensive experience of incident response and recovery, particularly involving the response to ransomware attacks. Before joining PwC in 2019, Andy worked in the UK's National Cyber Crime Unit where he led investigations and intelligence operations targeting high profile criminal threat actors. He set up the UK's cyber crime liaison team in the US and also spent 4 years on attachment to FBI Cyber Division, where he helped coordinate a series of international law enforcement operations, including the dismantlement of the GameOver Zeus and Shylock malware operations, and the shutdown of the Darkode cyber crime marketplace.
