

DR STEVE RAY

Senior Scientific Consultant
Wellbeing International

Dr Steve Ray has more than 25 years academic and commercial research experience in cell therapy. He holds an academic faculty appointment at Oxford Brookes University in the UK in clinical physiology and is Professor of Neuroscience at the Carrick Institute in the US.

He has been invited to speak on stem cell therapy at medical and scientific meetings internationally and holds advisory positions to clinics and cell banks around the world. He and his scientific team are regularly enhancing the proprietary protocols available from Wellbeing, to provide the optimal cell-free treatment for the benefit of clients.